"Payments in Lieu of Taxes" (or PILT) are Federal payments to local governments that help offset losses in property taxes due to nontaxable Federal lands within their boundaries. PILT payments help local governments carry out such vital services as firefighting and police protection, construction of public schools and roads, and search-and-rescue operations.

PILT website provides payments information for the states and counties. Users can search for the payments by state or county. The website also provides historical information.

"Payments in Lieu of Taxes" (PILT) are Federal payments to local governments that help offset losses in property taxes due to non-taxable Federal lands within their boundaries. The original law is Public Law 94-565, dated October 20, 1976. This law was rewritten and amended by Public Law 97-258 on September 13, 1982 and codified at Chapter 69, Title 31 of the United States Code. The law recognizes the inability of local governments to collect property taxes on Federally-owned land can create a financial impact.

PILT payments help local governments carry out such vital services as firefighting and police protection, construction of public schools and roads, and search-and-rescue operations. The payments are made annually for tax-exempt Federal lands administered by the Bureau of Land Management, the National Park Service, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (all bureaus of the Interior Department), the U.S. Forest Service (part of the U.S. Department of Agriculture), and for Federal water projects and some military installations. PILT payments are one of the ways the Federal Government can fulfill its role of being a good neighbor to local communities.

The Department of the Interior's (DOI) Office of the Secretary has administrative authority over the PILT program. In addition to other responsibilities, DOI calculates payments according to the formulas established by law and distributes the available funds. Applicable DOI regulations pertaining to the PILT program were published as a final rule in the Federal Register on December 7, 2004.

Office of Hearing and Appeals

Search Database

This web site uses ISYS, indexing software that assists you in searching for cases decided by the Office of Hearing and Appeals and other Department of the Interior authorities. ISYS displays a decision in portable document format (PDF).

How Are Decisions Organized?

Decisions and other reference materials are grouped into databases, e.g., "A" and "M" Decisions (1920-1970), IBIA Decisions (1970-Present), and IBLA Decisions (1970-Present). Each search page has a list showing the different databases available.

Note that while the decisions in most of the databases are precedential and may be cited as authority in future cases, decisions of the Hearings Divisions are not.

What Are My Search Options?

There are four ways to search a database. The most basic is the Quick Search option to the right on this page. Simply enter the term you wish to search for, select the database you wish to search from the drop-down list, and hit the "Enter" key on your keyboard. Note that, if you search on the term mining claim (without quotation marks), ISYS will find any case that contains the word mining and also the word claim, whether the two words are together or not. If you search on the term "mining claim" (with quotation marks), ISYS will find any case that contains the phrase mining claim.

Three other search options are available. The most user friendly is the Menu Assisted query. This query page combines most of the ISYS query tools on one easy-to-use page. The Natural Language query, as its name implies, uses a simple statement or sentence as a platform to query and retrieve database matches. The Advanced Search query allows users who are familiar with ISYS search language to customize individual searches. To assist users with the different ISYS query tools, Help pages are provided to the right on this page.

May I Search More Than One Database Simultaneously?

Yes. The Advanced Search query, Menu Assisted query, and Natural Language query options allow you to search multiple databases at the same time by checking the box next to each database that you wish to search. However, due to formatting differences from one database to another, the display of search results may be more useful if you run your search separately for each database.
